Highlights

KRCA

Plans are in the works for the Kawartha Region Conservation Authority to move into parts of Haliburton County, which could bring about better control of reservoir lakes.

Please see page 2.

Beattie

Toronto's ethnic groups aren't worried about the resurfacing of John Beattie on the white supremacy scene. Minden area residents are, though.

Please see pages 7 and 8.

Flies

Someone may dispute their name, but the "friendly flies" are with us for at least two more weeks. In the mean time, don't bother using the clothesline.

Highland Games

Except for the pesky flies, the first running of the Haliburton Highland Games was an unqualified success on the weekend. Thousands of enthusiasts of the Scottish style music and games came out to Glebe Park in Haliburton for an enjoyable day. Please see page 25.

Two Martin operations are sold

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The disposal of assets belonging to G.W. Martin Lumber Ltd. has begun.

The Harcourt based company announced the conditional sale of two of its operations to an American wood products company last week.

Chester Gadway, G.W. Martin's general manager of corporate administration, confirmed that the Rutherglen veneer mill and the North Bay cut-to-size operations are being sold to Columbia Forest Products Inc. of Portland Oregon. Both operations are owned by G.W. Martin Veneer Limited, a subsidiary of the parent G.W. Martin Lumber Ltd.

No purchase price will be disclosed and the sale is conditional upon the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources satisfying the buyer that a sufficient supply of veneer-quality logs are available to viably operate the plants.

The Rutherglen and North Bay operations employ 160 people in the North Bay area. Employment levels will stay the same under the new ownership.

Columbia Forest Products Inc. is an integrated manufacturer of hardwood plywood and veneer with

Proud graduates

It was all smiles for Sarah Wilbee, Sean Carrell and Adam Goard last week as the youthful graduates received their diplomas from Archie Stouffer Elementary School Principal McKay Bryden. These three were students in Pat Brezina's kindergarten class. They are now looking forward to moving up in the academic scale to Grade one. Friday was the final day for classes at Haliburton Highlands schools.

Second rally planned for Sept.

Beattie's July 1 white supremacist rally isn't the first or last

Next weekend's racist rally will not be the first such gathering in Minden. Nor, will it be the last.

The Times has learned that yet another rally is being organized for the September long weekend. Smaller gatherings have been held here in the past.

At least one bus has been chartered to deliver skinheads and white supremacists to a property in Minden that is being rented by John Beattie, a former leader of the Canadian Nazi Party. The bus, which will be leaving Toronto this Saturday morning, was chartered through Laidlaw Transit in Markham in Beattie's name. That bus is expected to arrive in Minden at 2 p.m. A source, who for fear of retribution has asked to remain unnamed, revealed that Beattie also attempted to charter buses for the first weekend in September to bring "musicians" to town for a rock concert.

According to the flyers being circulated in Toronto about this white supremacist event, there will be skinhead bands coming to the small property just north of Minden on Bobcaygeon Road. The flyer identifies the headline bands as Cross and Cyclone, and says there will be other bands and music, special speakers and lectures from Canadian and American organizations.

How many people will actually show up at Beattie's doorstep this Saturday afternoon remains to be seen. The bus from Toronto is capable of holding 48 passengers. It is possible that another busload of skinheads could come in from Peterborough. In addition, members of the Nationalist Party of Canada are coming up in four or five vans.

When the news of this rally first broke, Beattie told The Times he had no connection with its organization. He said he was having a few friends over and it might amount to 10 people at the tiny house he rents from a local man. The 47-year-old Beattie admitted his association with white supremacist groups in the 1960's, but said that is all behind him. He said that he suspected someone might be trying to set him up.

This week Beattie refused to speak with the press. However, some of his associates and contacts were willing to speak up, casting a doubt on his denial of involvement.

Conservation Authority sets sights on Haliburton

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

A proposal underway in Victoria County could see the Kawartha Region Conservation Authority extended north into parts of Haliburton County.

The move, which has been a longtime goal of the local water levels advisory committee, could result in better control of Haliburton County lakes. It could also provide expert planning advice to the municipalities involved.

The townships of Bexley and Somerville have each made requests to the authority for assistance in preparing an application to the province for the extension. They would like to see more of the Gull and Burnt Rivers watersheds included in the authority.

The conservation authority now covers most of Victoria County, and portions of Peterborough County and Durham Region. It covers the Gull River only as far north as Balsam Lake and the Burnt River only as far north as Cameron Lake.

In an interview with The Times, the conservation authority's general manager, Ian Macnab, said the two rivers are a natural part of the watershed and should be included in the authority's boundaries.

"It makes our task more difficult to have to control only a part of the system," Macnab said.

The conservation authority's job is the water management and preservation of natural watersheds in the area. Their mandate can be divided into four broad areas according to Macnab.

The conservation authority's first area of responsibility is water management and flood control and forecast. This also includes control and correction of erosion along the banks of the watershed. As part of its water management program, the conservation authority can comment on development proposal in which it has a concern. The authority would ensure that any proposed development would not have a negative impact on the environment.

The authority would comment on items such as zoning by-laws and by-law amendments, severance applications, Official Plans and Official Plan amendments, plans of subdivision and condominiums.

The authority is also involved in some aspects of land and forest management as it pertains to natural water courses and run-off.

Education and public information is another main aspect of the authority's duties. Macnab says his people try to teach the public good environmental practices and they work with about 6,300 school children a year teaching conservation practices and awareness of the environment.

Resource planning is the fourth area the authority is involved in. This includes maintaining lands that the authority owns or has control of such as the Ken Reid Conservation Area and the Pigeon River Headwaters Conservation Area. Macnab says the areas are developed as regional parks where people can enjoy the outdoors while gaining an appreciation of management techniques.

The extension of the conservation authority into Haliburton County could have an impact on three important issues facing the area at the moment: backlot development, flood plain management, and low lake levels.

Macnab says that in planning matters, the authority will not pass judgement on development or say whether back-lot development is good or bad, but they will provide technical advice on where it is safe to develop and how much pressure can be placed on a lake environment.

If the conservation authority is expanded into this county it would assume the responsibility of managing the flood plain, a duty currently carried out by the Ministry of Natural Resources. Macnab says the MNR's Minden District is well-run, but the ministry does not have as close a relationship with the municipalities as a conservation authority would have.

The conservation authority supports the provincial floodplain policy and would work on the flood plain mapping, relying on the expertise among the staff members, says Macnab.

Macnab says that because the Trent-Severn Waterway is under federal control that level of government has final say in water drawdowns from the reservoir lakes in Haliburton. But, he says his department has a good working relationship with the Trent-Severn people and the two agencies co-operate in solving problems. The conservation authority can influence the way the Trent-Severn Authority draws water, says Macnab.

As an example of this influence, Macnab uses the case of Lake Scugog where, in 1984, the authority helped Scugog Township resolve problems with the water levels relating to the management of the Trent-Severn system. The authority, as an agent of the municipality, worked with the Trent-Severn authorities, the Ministry of the Environment, and the Ministry of Natural Resources to change some of the aspects of the water management.

The authority would provide the municipality with technical expertise to come up with as good a scheme as possible for negotiation with the Trent-Severn people. And if additional reservoir lakes were ever created, Macnab says the authority could play a big role in planning that project.

The Haliburton Highlands Water Management Advisory Committee is one group that has been recommending the inclusion of the county in a conservation authority for the past five years.

In the committee's 1988 Operations Review released in April, it states, "the committee has concluded that the establishment of an area conservation authority or an add-on to an existing authority must be seriously pursued. The lack of a Conservation Authority is seen as a concern and/or constraint to proper water management and control in the area."

The document points out that under the Conservation Authority Act the authority has the power to:

Study and investigate the watershed and to determine a program whereby the natural resources of the watershed may be conserved, restored developed and managed,

Erect works and structures to create reservoirs by the construction of dams or otherwise,

Control the flow of surface waters in order to prevent floods or pollution or to reduce adverse effects,

Cause research to be done etc.

Committee member Jerry Strickland says the strength of the authority lies in its

Health Strategy report is released

The Premier's council on Health Strategy has released its report on new directions for the health care system, "From Vision to Action." The report recommends changes in four areas of health care: hospital funding, physical payment methods, community services and co-ordination of the system. The report states that existing resources can be used more wisely through reallocation. Only after there has been an effort to reallocate should the government consider the need for additional resources.

In releasing the report, Ray Aitken, chairman of the council's health care system committee, said, "People place high value on our health system. We had to balance the best of what we have today and the changes we feel are necessary for tomorrow.

Yes

Since the news of a white supremacist rally swept through this community last week, people have been searching for a way to express their concern and objection to the gathering. Some have chosen to write letters to the editor, others have voiced their concerns to elected officials.

We sense, however, that there are many in the community who are frustrated because they feel there is little they can do to demonstrate their objection to this rally.

In response to this feeling of frustration and seeming helplessness, we have created a way the community as a whole can express its support for the positive beliefs which the vast majority of Canadians hold and which have helped our nation to grow. You will note that page 6 of this week's newspaper contains a positive affirmation of these principles. We suggest, if you find the credo of the white supremacists repugnant and believe no citizen of this country should be discriminated against because of race, colour, creed, religion or ethnic origin, that you remove the page from the newspaper and post it in a window of your home, car, place of work or any public place.

By doing so, you will be demonstrating that while there is little the community can do to stop these people from gathering here, the vast majority of area residents do not subscribe to their backward credo. (To carry the message to the organizers of the rally, you may also wish to mail a copy of the page to Box 1004, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0).

These actions may seem small compared to the revulsion the community feels for what has been scheduled to take place here next weekend, but we think it is one way to send out a message to the rest of Canada that Minden does not support nor condone the ideals of the people invited to the rally here.

(Extra copies of the full page are available, free of charge, from The Times office in Minden).

Think positive

Area residents may feel that the reputation of our community has been sullied by the staging of a racist rally near Minden this weekend. While news of the rally has cast a dark shadow over this village, one need not look far to realize there are many positive, family oriented events that reflect the true nature of our community.

Rather than dwell on the negative, one can easily find fun diversions to entertain the entire family. Among the events scheduled for this weekend are: a crazy raft race on the Gull River; Canada Day fireworks Saturday night; the World Cup Canoe Slalom; the Kinsmen Club Truck Pull competition; the Rotary Club Bingo; and more.

Minden is an active, growing, vital community, where people care about each other. It is also a community that will rise above the negativism generated by some.

To remain silent is to condone their actions

Editor:

John Beattie, a resident of Minden has a past of organizing disharmony and racial tension. In 1965, he was the leader of the Canadian Nazi Party. As leader, he organized two rallies in Allan Gardens, Toronto, to promote this fascist ideology. The rally turned ugly as Beattie's supporters struggled with protesters. As a result he was fined $150 for causing a public disturbance. In 1967 he placed swastika signs on the lawns of prominent Jewish Toronto Residents. For this despicable act he was charged with conspiring to commit public mischief and spent six months in jail. After being released from jail in 1968, he returned to Allan Gardens. In 1972, he announced publicly that he had reformed and was no longer a Nazi.

People in extreme right-wing political groups accused him of being a traitor to the cause and a police informer.

In 1982, he teamed up with John Ross Taylor of the British Peoples League organization which promoted a "White Anglo Saxon only" immigration policy. Later Taylor was accused of violating the laws of the Canadian Human Rights Act by using his telephone to spread hate literature.

On July 1-2, Beattie is hosting a rally which has been advertised in Toronto as a "whites only" event. The information flyer is particularly interested in attracting the attention of "White Kinsmen" and "Skinheads".

"Skinheads" is simply a term used to describe a group of young people who favour shaved heads, heavy leather boots and rolled-up jeans. But it is not how they look that is troublesome, it is what they think that is offensive. As in all groups, not all individuals are the same. But there are definitely Skinheads who believe in a "whites only" immigration policy and who are intolerant of people whose skin colour or religion differs from their own. Some of these Skinheads belong to Neo-Nazi groups. In Toronto, Vancouver, New York, London and other large cities, Skinheads have committed violent acts. They have robbed and beaten other young people and have formed menacing groups on the streets and subway lines.

These "Skinheads" are often kids with problems. They are angry at the system and are looking for easy solutions. They are easily manipulated.

In the era of the global village, Minden is not isolated. The media have already descended to gauge the feelings of the local community. To remain silent is to condone the values and beliefs of John Beattie and his followers. I strongly believe that there is no place in society for racist, intolerant views and hope that other members of the community will also voice their concern.

S. Ziman,
Haliburton, Ont.

Troublemakers are not welcome

Editor:

Responding to what has become a "Media Event" re Neo-Nazi Living In Anson Township (having a rally, visitors or whatever). We have discussed this with various law enforcement personnel and are confident that we shall be well protected on July 1 and 2, 1989, Canada Day Weekend.

The Townships have no by-laws in place regulating private property parties, however, if any by-laws are broken by anyone, we charge accordingly, upon complaint.

It is unfortunate that T.V. media can use three to four seconds of a fifteen minute interview to cut and use certain words that can be misconstrued to mean quite the opposite.

The full Council of Anson, Hindon and Minden thank the media for bringing this to our attention, as not one of us was aware, until Friday, June 16, 1989, that such a person existed in our Municipality. We become reluctant to talk with media people when distortions are created. We do not welcome "troublemakers".

I would personally like to wish all citizens and visitors a Happy and Prosperous "Canada Day" Weekend.

Reeve Ray Moore,
Townships of Anson,
Hindon and Minden.

Chilled to the bone by report

Editor:

I read with fascination your June 19 issue of The Times and, in spite of a blazing log in the fireplace, I was chilled to the marrow of my bones. Nazi leader, Skinheads, Racial Rally; the only thing missing was a seminar on Hitler's Final Solution in the name of racial purity.

I could care less if some misguided extremist communes with nature at a retreat near Minden, but I am offended, alarmed and angered by the convening of a public rally to advance racist ideology in the name of 'Save our Canada'.

Others will measure the horrible image of Minden projected by the national publicity attendant to such a gathering of the lunatic fringe. I must, however, express my revulsion with the underlying philosophy represented by those who would claim purity of race equals superiority and is a Canadian belief.

God knows how much hurt, damage even torture and death has been foisted upon people in the shameful guise of racial purity, or religious purity. Lebanon, Ireland, American Civil War, Nazism and World War II. The list is endless and the human tragedy monumental.

I trust the Minden pulpits will thunder as our Church leaders take this issue of racism to their congregations. Certainly the Canadian Legion Post will declare their disgust with a celebration of Nazi ideology. Surely, the Chamber of Commerce will point out in forceful terms that the human rights and well-being of the least in our society cannot be separated from our business interests.

Citizens of Minden will be judged by the company we keep on Canada Day. Our belief in freedom of assembly and speech demands that we too speak out clearly.

Ken Brown
South Lake.

Kinsmen Club not affiliated with group

Editor:

I am writing this letter to set something straight. The Kinsmen Club of Canada is not or will not ever be affiliated with the "white kinsmen."

The Kinsmen Club is a men's service club open to young men of good character from the ages of 21 to 45 of any denomination.

The Kinsmen Club provides service to the community, such as Winter Carnival Truck Pulls, Tractor & Truck Pulls at the County Fair, dances etc. to make service dollars to turn back into the community for such things as people who need financial help. For example, fire victims. Also to help community projects like the Stanworth Clock and fair-ground improvements.

So when you think Kinsmen, think good things.

Keith Thomas,
President Minden Kinsmen Club.

Affirm values

Editor:

In the light of recent reports regarding the possibility of racist gatherings in our area, the Haliburton County Ministerial Association strongly affirms the unity, equality, and dignity of all human beings.

Furthermore, we call on all concerned organization and citizens to respond with similar affirmations.

Edward Moll,
Acting Chairman

Not welcome here

Editor:

Whether held on private or public land, there is no place in this community for a racist event.

Gail Abrams
Carnarvon.

Question date of site inspection

Editor:

In reference to an article in The Times (June 12), under the heading "Minden hopes to ban houseboats from lakes", Wes Lytle is quoted as saying that the Canadian Coast Guard had inspected the site at the Allsaw Bridge Marine in October when lake levels were "rock bottom". Your article failed to note that Mr. Lytle stood corrected by an astute member of council who pointed out that the application for inspection was made in October, the actual physical inspection was not made until May 10, 1989, at which time of course, water levels were at their highest. It is difficult to credit that Mr. Lytle's memory is so short.

Rally presents challenge for local people

Editor:

The impending arrival of the "White Supremacists" and their friends, presents an enormous challenge to the people of our community.

If we respond by stirring up hatred and fear in our turn we will be feeding the negative energy promoted by these groups, and we will be left with this fear and outrage long after they have packed their tents and gone home. This helps no-one.

I believe that this challenge can be an opportunity for the creative, constructive energies of the inhabitants of Haliburton County, to find ways to actively express the truth of tolerance, love, and understanding. The experience could help create even stronger networks in our community as we develop ways to protect those members who may be seen as targets for racist violence, and ways to express to those visitors that we have found another way to live that is built on strength in diversity, understanding and support of our different ways. I have faith that we are equal to this challenge.

Caroline Bishop
Haliburton, Ont.

YES

As a citizen of Canada and a member of this community, I believe in equality of all individuals regardless of race, colour, creed, religion or ethnic origin.

No counter rallies are in the works

There are no rumblings of plans for a counter rally next weekend by ethnic groups from Toronto, says a spokesman for the Canadian Jewish Congress.

"I wouldn't cross the street to see John Beattie," Bernie Farber told The Times last week. "He's an old washed-up Nazi," he said. In fact, Farber is almost amused that Beattie is re-emerging as a leader among the province's extreme right wing.

"If the fractious right in Ontario have to recycle people like Beattie, it only goes to show they're a spent force in Ontario," said Farber, media liaison for the Canadian Jewish Congress.

Beattie, 47, is the former head of the Canadian Nazi Party. Although he has denied any connection with the rally being promoted in Minden this coming weekend, the Nationalist Party of Canada has confirmed that Beattie is the organizer.

'I wouldn't cross the street to see John Beattie'

Ethnic groups across Ontario are watching with interest to see what unfolds in here on Canada Day as dozens of skinheads arrive for the racist rally that is being held on Beattie's rented property on Bobcaygeon Road. However, Farber says he has not heard of any group in Toronto that is planning to make the trip here to protest.

Farber says it is difficult to know what to do about people like Beattie. "I wonder if we're going to create an event if we focus in on it."

He says the Canadian Jewish Congress isn't ignoring the white supremacist rally, "but I wouldn't go and rally or protest it. That's exactly what he would like."

Beattie has a reputation for his ability to manipulate the media, says Farber. If ethnic groups staged a counter rally they might be playing right into his hand. "Don't dance to their tune," he says.

The way to fight these people is by legal means, says Farber. The Canadian Jewish Congress has asked the Canadian Human Rights Commission to investigate the legality of this rally, especially since it is so widely advertised. However, it's extremely unlikely that the commission will be able to act in time to stop the rally.

For Minden area residents, Farber's advice is different. Simply by staging the rally in this community, Beattie is creating a bad name for Minden and Farber says residents should find some way of opposing it. "If I lived on John Beattie's back door, I'd oppose it," says Farber.

Toronto's ethnic groups aren't the only people who won't be in Minden on the weekend. "Sources even say skinheads are staying away in droves," says Farber.

Beattie's reputation both as an extremist and as a police informer have earned him a bad name among much of Toronto's skinhead community. Farber says a group calling themselves Skin Heads Against Racial Prejudice (SHARP) has been formed solely to distance themselves from Beattie and other white supremacists.

That's not entirely good news, though, for Minden. What it means is that only the extremists will be coming to the rally.

Beattie confirmed as rally organizer

Racial Unity", confirmed that Beattie is the organizer of the rally. Although only a handful of their members are coming to Minden, they say Beattie has arranged for many more to make the trip. One member said he has been to Beattie's home for smaller gatherings in the past.

—A representative of Laidlaw Transit in Markham also confirmed that it was Beattie who booked the bus. The booking was made by telephone in Beattie's name.

Beattie says the post office box listed on the flyer is his own personal box. However, it is registered in the name of the British People's League, a group he associated himself with in 1978.

Beattie, who spent six months in jail in 1967 for planting swastikas on the lawns of prominent Jewish citizens of Toronto has lived in Minden for about two years. He is often seen riding his bicycle in town and usually wears a cap with the Union Jack. In spite of all the publicity, he made several appearances at Minden businesses last week.

Police and town officials say they have no way of stopping this rally.

Because Beattie claims there is no rally, only a small party, no permit is necessary. It's uncertain whether the municipality has any bylaws to govern large gatherings on private property. Council has forbidden the bylaw enforcement officer to speak with the press on this or any other matter.

Ontario Provincial Police say they are monitoring the situation. However, unless any laws are broken, they can do nothing. The RCMP says it is not involved in this matter in any way.

John Beattie, former leader of the Canadian Nazi Party now lives in Minden. He smiled for the cameras while riding his bicycle through town last week. A racist rally is being staged on his property north of the village this weekend.

Community responds with shock, anger

'Non confrontational gathering' is proposed in response to racist rally

Minden area residents are reacting with shock, anger and disbelief to the news of a white supremacist rally to be held here this weekend.

With busloads of skinheads and white supremacists expected to arrive in town this Saturday afternoon area residents were scrambling last week to come up with a suitable course of action to respond to the offensive gathering. By the week's end, no firm plans were in place.

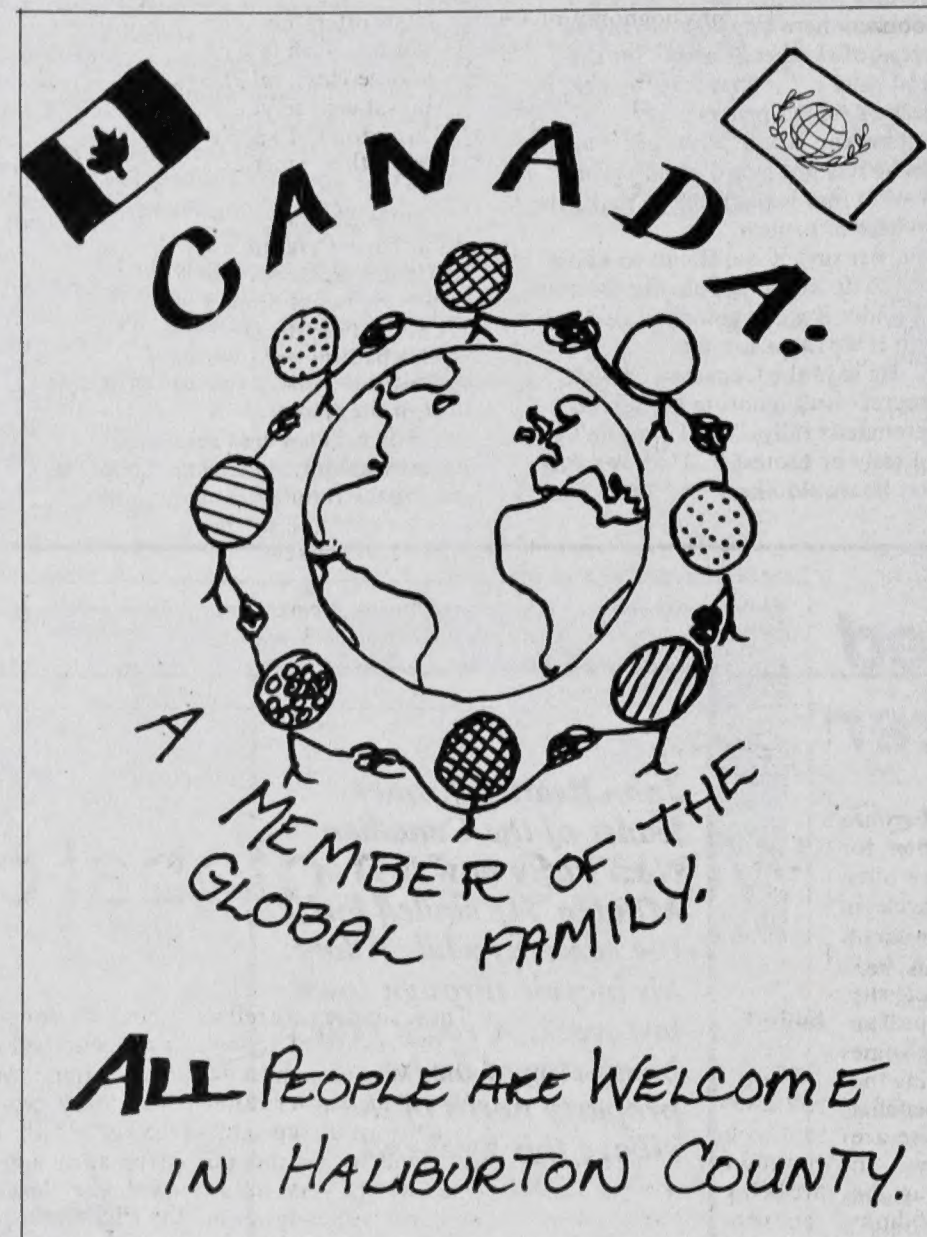

The rally, which is being organized by Minden resident William John Beattie is being held on private property this Saturday and Sunday. The promotional flyers that have been circulating in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto call the rally the "Save Our Canada Day Festival." Beattie's property is described as "Miles North—The white man's mission near Minden, Ontario." The one-acre property is actually rented from a local landlord.

One of the first organized efforts to demonstrate that area residents do not agree with the "whites only" philosophy espoused by Beattie and his associates was the creation of a flyer. Several area citizens combined their talents to come up with a poster that declares "All people are welcome in Haliburton County." The flyer, which shows eight stylized people holding hands in a circle around the globe, describes Canada as a member of the "Global Family."

The area's clergy have also been brainstorming in an effort to come up with a course of action. After a meeting last week they produced a brief statement affirming "the unity, quality and dignity of all human beings."

Other area residents are hoping to stage a "non confrontational gathering" while the racist rally goes on at Beattie's property.

The question of what course of action to take is difficult. Some argue that people should simply ignore what is happening at Beattie's house—attention only adds credibility. Others, though, feel that keeping silent is as good as condoning the racist activity.

Haliburton resident Sheila Ziman is one of the driving forces in favour of a peaceful protest. "A lot of atrocities in the world have happened because people have been silent," she says. It's understandable that people will be afraid to show their faces in protest of such a potentially violent group, says Ziman, but silence condones their actions.

"Society is only as safe as its individuals," Ziman believes. "If one group is under attack, the whole society is under attack."

Ziman, who is spending her summer in the Highlands, is Jewish. She said she was "just horrified" to learn that such an event could go on in Minden. As soon as she saw the story in The Times, she said she got on the phone and called the OPP. "I've been on the phone two days non-stop," she said last Tuesday.

What was even more shocking was that she once met Beattie and had a brief conversation with him. She met him at a bus stop and she said her impression was that he was a harmless ex-hippie.

Ziman says she also remembers Beattie from the 60's when he was active as the leader of the Canadian Nazi Party. The man she met at the bus stop, though, looks nothing like the self-styled boy fuhrer who led rallies at Toronto's Allen Gardens.

In his younger years Beattie adopted the looks and characteristics of Adolph Hitler. Today he has a full beard and a pot belly. Ziman said she found it hard to believe this could be the same man.

"I knew of him in the 60's," said Ziman. I was aware of the riots at Allen Gardens. For years I wouldn't go near there because of the riots."

Although Minden is predominantly a white community, Ziman believes the residents are disgusted by Beattie's actions. "I hope to move here eventually and I'd like to know that this community won't tolerate people like John Beattie." She feels a gathering—"non confrontational, celebrating multiculturalism and a multi-racial community"—is in order for the weekend.

Ziman admits she is afraid. However, she says she wouldn't be able to live with herself if she was to do nothing. "My sense of what is right outweighs my sense of fear," she says.

Cartoonists puzzled by Bushy character

If you've got any leftover kind thoughts, could you toss a couple to the editorial cartoonists of the world? You know -- the guys who decorate the editorial page and usually manage to pack more pith and vinegar into one drawing that we scribblers can muster in a 500-work think piece. The American chapter held its annual convention in Newport, Rhode Island last month. Normally it's a merry affair with lots of booze and banter. This year it was about as cheerful as a get-together of Maple Leaf goaltenders.

Cause of the gloom? George Bush. The man is a political will o' the wisp. He has no discernible personality, no lampoonable quirks or habits, no definable policies on any particular subject. He casts no shadow, leaves no footprints. The man is a walking jello.

Put another way, the cartoonists can't draw him.

This year's annual cartoonists convention turned into a kind of bleary eyed wake for America's ex-prez - a man who provided unalloyed glee (not to mention gainful employment) for the past eight years.

"Reagan was such a character," said one cartoonist wistfully. "I'm not having as much fun now."

"George Bush?" wailed another. "George Bush is like Mister Rogers' Neighbourhood."

Well, Ronald Reagan unquestionably offered a lot more to draw with his patent leather pompadour, his bushy brow, his crepe-y neck and his overall mien of a matinee idol gone to seed.

Which come to think of it, is what he was.

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

The physiognomy of George Bush offers no such pegs for a cartoonist to hang his hat on. Bush is kind of pale and reedy, middle-aged, middle-class, middle everything. Remember the guy who sat next to you at the Home and School meeting? You don't? Exactly. That's George Bush. No wonder the American cartoonists are crying in their beer.

I think it's very important for a political figure to be caricaturable. It could be that John Turner's failure to ignite the imagination of the Canadian electorate stems in part from the fact that nobody could draw a good editorial cartoon of him. Canadian cartoonists had a field day with Trudeau and his balding pate, his bony face and his penchant for sniffing roses. They were merciless in their depiction of gloomy Robert Stanfield, the Undertakers' Undertaker. They had a ball portraying Joe Clark as a gormless puppy, Lester Pearson as a pudgy, nearsighted Mister Bumble.

And Dief. Was there ever a greater gift to the cartoonists pen than John George Diefenbaker, 13th Prime Minister of Canada?

Dief had beady eyes, protruding teeth and corrugated hair, all riding on a nest of neck wattles that wobbled impressively when Dief was aroused, which was often. He was magnificent. He was the Mona Lisa for Canadian cartoonists. They all had their versions of him and none was better than the Toronto Star's Duncan Macpherson. When Prime Minister Diefenbaker cancelled production of the Avro Arrow, throwing thousands of aviation workers out of a job, The Star ran a Macpherson cartoon of Diefenbaker dressed as Marie Antoinette, complete with curls, cleavage and birthmark, all over the caption "Let them eat cake."

That was 30 years ago. I still can't think of that cartoon without smiling.

All of which is scant solace for American cartoonists facing at least four years of trying to pin George Bush to paper.

Meanwhile, Ronald Reagan, the man they loved to draw is moving on to...larger canvasses as it were. There's a move afoot in the states right now to chisel Reagans likeness into the granite of Mount Rushmore alongside Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

Canada has no such tradition yet, but who knows? What with Free Trade and all, perhaps when Prime Minister Mulroney's term expires (if ever) his admirers (if any) will see to it that his likeness is carved into the Canadian countryside.

Hopefully a suitable bluff could be found.

Around Moose Jaw, preferably.

Successful students?

Editor:

I was very disappointed to see that a list of students who have been exempted from exams was published in the Minden Times. Does the headline "Successful students will skip exams" imply that other students were unsuccessful this year?

As a teacher myself, I see many students who try their best and study their hardest who will never find their names on a list such as this.

The fact that a student is or is not writing an exam should be the business of the student and his/her family, not that of the general public. The humiliation felt by some students at not making the list outweighs any benefits that I can see. There are many other ways to measure and honour the success of students without making everyone's academic achievement public knowledge. I hope that whoever conceived this idea will rethink it next year.

We live in a global community

Editor:

"Roll away the ocean; roll away the sea; go and join your partners, form community." These words are being sung by the children from the streets of the Peace Shelter at Dumaguette City, Negros Oriental, in the Philippines. The children are saying that no longer must the oceans and seas be seen as barriers to prevent the formation of our one world community.

These children are reflecting the reality of today's world. We, too, must see our earth the way it naturally is: a beautiful, reproductive island within the universe. By its very nature our planet is already a complete, self-sustaining unit. We, its inhabitants, must protect, preserve, and enhance it, in its positive, productive unity.

The divisions arising out of newsy sensationalism must no longer be given precedence within our global community. While doing voluntary work (December/88) with Habitat for Humanity and associating with the Peace Shelter in the Philippines, I was experiencing the real world. My recent involvements with HAVE's projects in India, and my extensive travels throughout Thailand, Malaysia, and Indonesia reminded me very vividly of the reality of our world community. When being asked, therefore, by those in my presence: "Where are you from?", I could sincerely respond: "I am from earth. Where are you from?" For me it was especially noteworthy that such an answer was an obvious reality, even to some of my so-called illiterate enquirers.

Do not expect a warm welcome rally participants

Editor:

Please print this open letter to John Beattie and all Skinheads and Neo-Nazis planning to attend his Canada day party.

Mr. Beattie & Friends:

Minden is a friendly, hospitable village which welcomes a large number of tourists each year.

Generally, hearing numerous strangers have chosen our area for their next gathering, is cause for excitement and anticipation.

Knowing that a group of violent, avowed bigots is planning to converge on our village this week-end, instead generates revulsion and anxiety.

Skinheads and Neonazis, the people of Minden are peaceful decent and tolerant. We find your white supremacist/anti-Jewish philosophy repugnant. We do not want you to consider this village your rural playground. You will find no converts to your philosophy of violence, hatred and prejudice among us.

Mr. Beattie, you claim that you have left this philosophy behind to seek a new life. Though evidence makes one wonder about the veracity of this statement, if it is true, may you find peace here in your new home.

If you still espouse these repulsive views however, and attempt to influence others, do not expect a warm welcome from our community.

Finally, this July 1st, let us all remember that Canada has been built by pioneers of all races, creeds and ethnic origins into the best country in the world.

Pat Brezina,
Minden, Ont.

HCSA forging ahead meeting told

Despite a debt load as a result of investment in new grooming equipment, and an executive body that is feeling the strain of too many volunteer hours, the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association appears to be as vital as ever.

The group held its annual meeting June 24 to review some of the highlights of the past year and to explain, again, the plans for the coming season. The annual meeting attracted about 20 members, not unusual for an organization built around a winter sport. Those in attendance were obviously interested in the future of the organization.

The treasurer's report told the meeting that the purchase of new grooming equipment has placed the organization in debt "up to our ears". It was noted that the financial support from the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs announced earlier this spring, did not match the expectations of the executive. Representation made at that group's annual meeting resulted in a realignment of priorities in assigning these support payments to favour the clubs with the larger trail networks.

Peter Overington, President of the HCSA, told the meeting that this organization still remains the "world's largest" and that more and more snowmobilers are being attracted to the area each year. While finding some comfort in the area's popularity, he

Despite the handicap of having only one hand, HCSA executive member Gord Hamilton has been a driving force behind the construction of bridges serving the snowmobile trail network. Most of the structures are pre-fabricated at his Scotch Line Road home then transported to the site for erection. In recognition of his major contribution to the HCSA effort, the association has decided to name one of his longer bridges after its builder. The bridge, on the Denna Lake trail next season will carry this sign held by himself and membership chairman Norm Gemmell, right. The dedication was announced at the annual meeting of the HCSA.

We believe strongly that much of what we have today is worth preserving."

This report contains the first recommendations from the 30-person council which has a diverse membership from the health care sector, business, labour and government.

The report calls for the government and physicians to establish jointly, an expenditure envelope for physician payments from the health insurance plan. The council believes that the existing open-ended system makes it difficult for the government to plan health care spending.

The report also recommends that doctors and the government establish a mutually agreeable system to settle disputes.

Finally, the report argues that both government and the physicians should undertake a joint review of methods of remuneration to encourage a better balance and mix of payment options.

With respect to hospital funding, the report recommends that the government review plans announced in 1986 to build 4,000 new hospital beds. The report argues that the operating costs associated with these new beds will severely limit the potential for redirecting the way in which health services are provided.

The government was also urged to offer financial incentives to hospitals to enable them to provide outpatient services as alternatives to inpatient care and to fund hospitals in a way that is more sensitive to their individual workloads.

Council silent about rally

Minden council has decided to remain silent about the white supremacist rally planned for Minden this weekend.

Canarvon resident Gail Abrams attended Thursday's council meeting with the intent of having council pass a resolution in response to the rally, but the topic was never discussed by the councillors and the resolution was never read.

The resolution was similar to the one passed by the Ministerial Council last week which, "strongly affirms the unity, equality and dignity of all human beings." The Ministers have asked, in a letter to The Times, that other organizations make similar affirmations.

The topic of the rally was not on the council's agenda for discussion, but Abrams approached Reeve Ray Moore during a break in the meeting and presented him with the resolution.

Abrams said that Moore told her he didn't want to give the rally any publicity and turn it in to a "media event."

When she was informed that her resolution had not been discussed, Abrams said she wasn't surprised and she understands council's point of view but added that she was disappointed at council's failure to act.

"You can't sweep it under the rug," said Abrams. "It's already a media event."

Bylaw officer ordered not to talk to the press

Minden Council has put a gag order on its bylaw enforcement officer in an attempt to stem the "bad press" council has received recently.

Chief Building Official and Bylaw Enforcement Officer Brad Bradamore has been instructed to not speak with the press on any issue. Before Bradamore is allowed to answer any questions from the two newspapers he must first be given formal permission by council.

Council, however, isn't about to grant that permission. A request was made to Reeve Ray Moore and Deputy Reeve Bern Berry last week for permission for Bradamore to discuss by-laws as they might pertain to this weekend's racist rally. That request was turned down at a special council meeting on Tuesday.

Community must request authority expansion

permanence. While the volunteers who serve on the committee may leave in years to come, Strickland says the authority has clout with other agencies and the ability to access funds. He recommends that the extension of the authority into Haliburton County be "very seriously pursued."

Any application to expand the authority must come from the interested municipalities and not from the authority itself.

Macnab says the authority is working with Bexley and Somerville townships in developing the technical arguments necessary to convince the province the expansion is worthwhile. "The province must see the merits of the proposal," he says.

According to Macnab it has not yet been determined how much of the Gull and Burnt River Watersheds should be added to the authority. If the entire watershed system was taken into consideration it would encompass 21 new municipalities and would include much of Haliburton County as well as portions of Muskoka and Peterborough - Hastings.

But he doubts that such a drastic expansion will be attempted at this time. He says there are logical expansion boundaries further south. The proposal will have to be large enough to solve water management problems while still being economically feasible.

Once the boundaries of the proposed expansion are determined, and the province has approved the plan, the municipalities within the proposed expansion area will vote on whether or not to join the authority. A majority vote of two-thirds is necessary for the expansion to go ahead.

So far, the municipalities in Haliburton County which may be affected by the expansion haven't taken part in any of the discussions. Macnab says he hopes the townships involved in the expansion application will discuss the idea with neighbouring municipalities so the proposal isn't sprung on them by the province unexpectedly.

The conservation authority is an autonomous body operating outside the municipal and provincial structure but as a partnership between the two levels of government, says Macnab. Each municipality that is a part of the authority selects a representative to sit on the governing committee. Municipalities with larger populations, like Lindsay and Scugog, have two representatives. This committee votes on every project the authority undertakes.

Funding for the authority is raised through a levy system by the member municipalities. The levy is based on the number of people each municipality has living inside the boundaries of the conservation area. In 1989, the levy averaged out to $3.41 per capita. Although the authority calculates the amount each municipality will have to pay, it is up to the individual townships to determine how they want to raise that money.

Macnab says that when the authority was first formed in 1980, there wasn't a great deal of interest among residents in serving on the committee. These days however, Macnab says there is competition in the municipalities to be appointed to the authority because of the higher profile being assumed by environmental concerns.

This increased profile has led to a high level of interest among members of the committee and Macnab says more municipal councillors are being chosen to represent their townships.

Preparing the application for the expansion requires a great deal of time and effort. Macnab says he wants to make sure all the homework is done so a thorough application is presented to the province.

He says the proposal could be ready to go to the province by mid to late autumn and the municipal vote could happen by next spring.

Bryce Young is the reeve of Somerville, one of the townships applying for expansion. The south-east corner of the township already lies within the boundaries of the authority but Young would like to see the area expanded up the Gull and Burnt Rivers, both of which run through his municipality.

He says there are many areas along the watershed which could be developed into conservation areas similar to the site at Ken Reid. Young also says the expansion would allow more attention to be paid to the problem of erosion along the flat stretches of the Burnt River.

He calls the relationship with the conservation authority "excellent" and says the application is, in part, a show of faith in the authority.

According to Young, Somerville and Bexley never conferred about the applications and the decision to ask for expansion was arrived at independently by the two townships.

The timing of the applications owes something to a recent proposal to amalgamate the Kawartha Region Conservation Authority with Otonabee Conservation Authority. This proposal, says Young, is not at all popular among Victoria County politicians.

The Kawartha Conservation Authority is relatively new, says Young, and has done "very, very well" with its development considering that it has a comparatively low budget.

The questions that remain to be answered are, how much, if any, of Haliburton County will be involved in the expansion and when will local municipalities who may be affected, get involved.

Given the important role a conservation authority could play in local development and water management, and the recommendations of the Water Levels Advisory Committee about conservation authorities, the decision about expansion of the Kawartha Region Conservation Authority is one that Haliburton's townships municipal councils will probably want to pay close attention to.

Pesky flies are really on our side

Don't bother hanging your laundry on the clothesline for the next few weeks. The millions of "friendly flies" that have appeared in the Highlands will leave little brown specks on it.

That's the bad news. The good news is that, aside from the incredible nuisance these flies are causing, they are also doing us a favour by killing off eastern and forest tent caterpillars.

The large "friendly fly" is sometimes referred to as a "flesh fly" or "blow fly". Its real name is Sarcophaga aldichi and it's a major factor in the collapse of the caterpillar infestations.

The fly gives birth to a living maggot on the cocoons that caterpillars build. The maggot crawls through the silk and kills the pupa inside. Each female is capable of destroying the pupa in up to 24 cocoons.

The "friendly fly" normally has a very low population level. However as the forest tent caterpillar population increases, so does the fly's. This is because they have so many cocoons on which to lay their young. It normally takes a few years for the fly population to increase to the point where it will significantly reduce the caterpillar infestation.

After killing the caterpillar in the cocoon, the maggot will drop to the ground and spend the winter in the pupal stage. The adult fly emerges the following summer. This means the flies are usually present the year following a collapse of forest tent caterpillar infestation. Since they have no place to reproduce, the flies will disappear until the next infestation.

For this year, the adult flies will die off about two weeks after the forest tent caterpillar cocoons are formed. That will start to happen in the next week.

The rumor that these flies were bred and released by the Ministry of Natural Resources is false. "Friendly flies" are a naturally occurring parasite of tent caterpillars.

For more information, contact the ministry at 286-1521.

mills across the United States. This will be the company's first Canadian acquisition.

This is the first purchase agreement signed by the Martin organization since they announced their plans to sell the company in September 1988. The company anticipates signing agreements for purchase and sale on most of its other divisions in the near future.

The Rutherglen and North Bay facilities were originally acquired by G.W. Martin from U.O.P. of Chicago, Illinois, in 1981.

News of the sale, comes on the heels of an announcement of company-wide lay-offs involving several Martin operations including a reduction of 75 employees at the Harcourt sawmill.

Gadway says the shareholders' first intention was to sell Martin's entire holdings to a single purchaser but when no buyer could be found the segmented sale of the company's individual operations was pursued.

The organization currently has potential buyers lined up for every plant and the agreements are at varying stages of progress, according to Gadway. The company expects to sign a contract for the sale of its Tweed and Belleville pallet operations very shortly.

The latest lay-off announcement brings the total of Martin employees on layoff to 473 of a total work force of 1,300.

Gadway says, that in light of the disposal of the company's plants, logging operations were not resumed this year. The lay-offs are occurring as the company's supplies of raw materials are being exhausted.

The reason for the sales, according to Gadway, is a decrease in the company's major markets, the 15 per cent tariffs on Canadian lumber exports to the United States and the strength of the Canadian dollar. He says a majority of the company's products are sold south of the border.

Gadway says he doesn't know what affect the sale of the Ontario-based operations to an American company will have.

The Martin Group of companies is one of the largest hardwood lumber and rotary veneer producers in North America and the largest white pine producer in Ontario.

The company operates five logging operations, five sawmills, two hardwood veneer mills, a hardwood flooring plant, a cut-to-size veneer facility, a lumber processing yard, a pallet manufacturing plant and a pallet repair facility, all in Ontario.

Hustlers return to winning

The Rockcliffe Hustlers got back to their winning ways last week, bringing home victories against Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon on Wednesday. The Hustlers travelled to Fenelon Falls and won 6 - 5 with all the Minden runs being scored in the 5th inning, after Fenelon scored 3 in the 4th to take the lead. A strong pitching performance from Brian Shaw kept the Hustlers in the game.

The Hustlers kept the positive attitude that they had the night before and carried it into Thursday's home game against Bobcaygeon. Both teams traded runs in the 1st inning but in the 4th inning the Hustlers scored 3 runs to take the lead and sew up the victory.

Barry Shaw doubled to right centre to start things off and Jack Snell reached first on an error. With runners at first and second, Doug Shaw singled Barry Shaw to third and Snell to second. Dave Dollo then singled home Barry Shaw and Snell and Shaw moved up a base. Derrick Little singled home Snell and Shaw to complete the scoring. Snell pitched a strong game scattering 5 hits over 7 innings.

The Hustlers play back to back games against Haliburton this week. Tuesday night in Haliburton and Thursday in Minden at 8:00 p.m. Come out and support the Hustlers, as Haliburton has shown in the past that they can play good ball against Minden.

Residents complain about back-lot policy

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council had the opportunity to hear a landowner's perspective of the contentious back-lot development policy at last Thursday's meeting.

Jim and Bernice Davis own 352 acres of land on the Bat Lake Road and attended the meeting to relay their concerns about the township's policy.

Minden's Official Plan forbids back-lot development but does not have a clear definition of what constitutes a back-lot. Council and the Planning Advisory Committee have been operating under a guideline which states that anything within 1,000 feet of a lake, without water frontage is a back-lot.

However, properties within the 1,000-foot guideline may be exempted from the back-lot designation if it can be shown that development on the property will have no adverse environmental impact on the water.

This interpretive definition has led to recent debate among members of both the planning committee and the municipal council.

Bernie told council that she and her husband have no desire to develop their property, which is accessed from Highway 121 and lies within 1,000 feet of Canning Lake. But she added that they felt they should be allowed to develop or sever property in the future.

The couple expressed their concerns about the back-lot policy during the public meetings four years ago when the township's official plan was being drawn up and said that municipal planner Bob Lehman assured them their land did not fall under the back-lot designation because it was separated from the lake by a municipal road.

But Bernie said that during the last year the policy has changed because of the 1,000-foot set-back guideline and this prompted the visit to council.

She said the debate really centres on two issues, environmental pollution and people pollution. While environmental pollution is always a real concern, Bernie said it is sometimes used as a screen to protect against people pollution. She said discussions with Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry left her with the impression that people pollution was the real concern.

Jim took the floor and said he had researched the issue and found there is not enough information for any definite guideline.

He outlined the criteria used by the Health Unit when inspections are carried out to determine a property's ability to sustain a septic system. He said they lay out a septic field to produce a minimum impact on ground water, so the issue is redundant by the time it gets to the planning committee. The real environmental concern, according to Jim, is not pollution from human waste but the introduction of nutrients into the lake by the phosphorous content of soaps and detergents.

The real issue should not be development on back-lots but the use of phosphorous soaps and chemical fertilizers, said Jim. "The solution is not forbidding back-lots, but educating landowners."

The Davises also pointed out that many cottages have a greater than usual number of visitors during the weekend which leads to heavy water usage. Quoting from a cottager's manual they said excessive water usage can force solid waste to be flushed from septic tanks before it is properly broken down.

In continuing their argument that the greatest danger of pollution to lake environments is bad practices and not back-lot development, the Davises said the Gull River is exempted from the 1,000-foot policy and appears to be less polluted than Canning Lake because the pollutants are being washed downstream into Lutterworth's Gull Lake.

They argued that the municipal sewage system is also a culprit because the treatment plant does not monitor the water for nutrients from chemicals like phosphorous so they are allowed to re-enter the river downstream from the village.

Getting back to the issue of people pollution, Bernie suggested that if lakefront property owners don't want people developing the land behind them, they should purchase it. She said cottage associations could get together and buy the land behind their properties to develop as a buffer or greenbelt. "People want privacy but they don't want to pay for it," she said.

She questioned the amendment to the Official Plan proposed by planner Bob Lehman which would consider everything inside 1,000 feet a back-lot unless it can be proven that there is no adverse affect from development. The guideline is essentially the same as the policy currently being followed. The amendment would also allow a landowner the option of having an engineering study done to have his land exempted from the back-lot designation if it meets the criteria.

Bernie argued that the amendment is open to interpretation and could depend on who sits on council or serves on the planning committee could be interpreted four or five different ways. She added that the untrained, volunteer planning committee members should not have more authority than the health unit.

Bernie called the proposed amendment, "vague" and said it would be "worse than nothing." She said it was a "flagrant display of protection of some, paid for by others, veiled in a cry of environmental protection."

Reeve Ray Moore congratulated the Davises on their presentation and said it was an "awful lot of good input from lay people who are looking to the future." He said their arguments had a lot of merit and that there must be some way to reach a "happy medium" on the issue.

Berry responded to the argument presented by the couple and told them the 1,000-foot set-back was suggested by Lehman based on an accepted study that determined that septic tank effluent can sometimes travel 1,000 feet through the ground and enter the lake water.

He told them that the township can't control the property that is on the lake, but can control what happens behind that. Berry said the idea about controlling the use of detergents and fertilizers are great, but that it would be a hard restriction to control and regulate.

Berry called the difference of opinion on planning advisory healthy and told the Davis's that he didn't want area lakes to become like Lake Simcoe, near Barrie. He said that because phosphorous detergents are reaching the lake through septic systems, the less systems you have near the lake the less phosphorous pollution there will be.

Council agreed that the issue needs studying and discussion before anything can be resolved.

Loop trail, groomers to solve problems

noted the increased use of the trails means they deteriorate more rapidly. He said the creation of the new corridor loop and introduction of improved grooming equipment should help alleviate that problem.

Obtaining access to land for trail purposes is becoming more difficult, the president told the group. He appealed to members who own land near existing HCSA trails to let the executive know of the situation so that if a new trail is needed in their area, they can be contacted quickly for permission to cross the property.

Overington gave credit to the Haliburton County Council for purchasing the abandoned rail line. He noted he had recently attended a meeting called to discuss the future use of the line and he was pleased with the "sensible approach most people took to the shared use of this facility."

The president told the organization that 12 businesses have already responded to the special appeal put out by the HCSA to assist in the funding of the trail loop. He said many responded with more than their "share" and he felt this augured well for the future of this effort.

Overington paid tribute to executive member Bob Valentine who is retiring this year. He spent many hours working on HCSA trails, the president told the gathering. He said Bob's decision to step down was due to the 'burn-out' many of the executive members are feeling because of the stress of running the organization. He appealed for members to step forward to serve on the executive and for members to volunteer their time to help the association.

Membership chairman Norm Gemmell told the meeting the 1989 membership stood at 2,595 plus more than 300 temporary trail passes issued during this past season. He noted the club has come a long way in the past nine years. In 1980 the membership stood at 722.

Before the meeting ended, three new members were added to the association's executive. The new members include Larry Tupling, Ralph Tarswell and Jeff Martin. They will join a group of 20 executive members who have agreed to serve the association for another term.

Allsaw Bridge Marine Larson's Delta-Conic® Hull

The Delta-Conic® Advantage

The Delta-Conic® hull incorporates three basic features that combine to give you superior performance and an exceptionally smooth ride.

1 THE "CONIC" The bow section has a deep entry forward and conical-shaped surfaces extending from the keel to the chine. This design provides clean entry into water for optimum waterflow with minimum drag.

2 THE "DELTA" Delta-shaped aft sections are of constant deadrise, delivering a superior planing surface. Thanks to this configuration, the bow rises gently, and the boat comes to plane at lower speeds than other hull designs. There is no waste of power "digging" into the water. And it not only stays on plane more easily, but it stays on plane even at midrange speeds.

3 THE CHINE An obvious deviation from normal hulls is the wide-lipped chine bow to stern on the Delta-Conic® hull. This design provides an incredible dampening effect on rolling; there is no continuing pendulum effect that is so common in V-hull bottoms. The result is an exceptionally stable platform, as well as a dry ride — even at full throttle.

Conical surfaces have no compound curve. A straight edge laid on the area will be in line contact at all times. Delta sections are symmetrically disposed flat surfaces.

Wide chine remains constant, except for taper at bow. Unique design dampens lateral roll; reverse angle directs spray away during planing.

Conical contour extends 1/3 of hull length at the keel, and approximately 2/3 the length at the chine.

Meeting the needs of today's boater with famous Larson above waterline features and below waterline efficiency.

Larson Boats, long known for value, style and performance, started the pleasure boating industry in 1980 with their new hull design concept. Today, Larson pleasure boat owners and sport-fishermen alike enjoy the benefits of the patented Delta-Conic Hull.

The Delta-Conic Hull offers the best combination of interior space and hull design in boating history. By utilizing the features of the patented Delta-Conic Hull, Larson has designed their lines of pleasure boats and offshore fishing boats with unequalled efficiency and performance.

Reduce fuel consumption.

The Larson Delta-Conic Hull design provides exceptional helm response and reduced fuel consumption. By getting on plane quickly, the Delta-Conic reduces forward wallow.

Larson Delta-Conic helm response is especially important to skiers, boaters and fishermen anxious to get on the move. It effectively eliminates the bow to the sky problem common to so many popular outboard and I/O models.

Enhance your leisure cruising.

Today the leisure boater spends more time than ever in slow leisure cruising. Larson Delta-Conic enhances leisure cruising by reducing stern movement found in many other boats. The Larson Delta-Conic also has the capacity to stay on plane at lower speeds while maintaining on-plane control.

During a performance test, Powerboat Magazine found that a Larson Delta Sportcruiser was able to maintain plane at just 16 mph with its I/O turning at just 2500 rpm.

Handle the rough water with ease.

When it comes to handling rough water, the Delta-Conic really performs. The sharp Larson V forward of midship handles tough chops and ominous swells alike. When the Larson settles back down after a waterborne lift, the gentle V running amidship to the transom cushions re-entry.

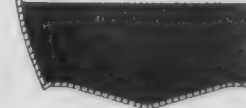

Powerboat Magazine found the Larson Delta Sportcruiser handled superbly in rough water.

"During the time of the Sportcruiser test, the wind was blowing at a very gusty 20 mph, and the water conditions were a combination of whitecaps with rolling swells. No matter from what direction we tackled the water, the boat dived through with incredible ease!"

the Larson Delta-Conic gives you the most for your boat dollar.

More room for living and storage. "I can't believe the roomy feeling I got from this 26 foot boat!" That's another comment from Powerboat Magazine's report on the Larson Delta Sportcruiser. Its

CROSS-SECTION AFT VIEW

A Delta sections maintain constant deadrise angle to stern.
B Chine lip portion extends at an angle opposite the delta sections angle.

CROSS-SECTION FORE VIEW

A Total width of chine, stern to bow, is approximately 20% of total hull width.

And, the Delta-Conic keeps you dry. Note the wide lip chine in the illustration. These "flats" which run the length of the hull, contribute to stability and a dry ride.

Because of the outstanding design of the Delta-Conic hull, Larson boats perform while at the same time conserving fuel. Whether in full flight from foul weather or in full chase of fish or other fun on the water, outstanding cabin design gives you the feeling of a much larger boat. The Delta-Conic hull offers more room for living and storage space and efficient deck plans assure more room for fun at dockside.

Because of Larson's superb combination of hull design and above waterline features, Delta-Conic models are winning acclaim for both comfort and performance.

THE DELTA CONIC HULL IS AVAILABLE ONLY ON LARSON BOATS WHICH ARE ONLY AVAILABLE AT ALLSAW BRIDGE MARINE.

Monk complains of damages from Ride weekend

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

A Minden business owner is unhappy with the abuse of his property which took place during the Ride for Sight weekend and has brought his complaints to the municipal council.

Gordon Monk, owner of a downtown funeral home, attended Thursday night's meeting and presented Minden councillors with a copy of a letter he sent to Ride for Sight's Ontario chairman, Syd Collier.

In the letter, Monk says a group of motorcycle riders disrupted a funeral procession that was travelling on Highway 35 near Cobocok.

"At approximately 2:15 p.m. a number of the riders were stopped at the intersection of Highways 35 and 48 to allow a funeral procession to proceed north on Highway 35. Shortly thereafter, they started to cut in and out of the procession, even between the hearse and the family cars.

The family was quite annoyed and so was my staff."

Monk also complained to Collier that during the OPP Golden Helmet demonstration late Saturday afternoon, several riders used his parking lot without permission. He said they entered the building site of his new addition and removed lumber to place under their kick-stands and several thermal pane window were smashed. Monk estimated the value of the damage at $269.

Lumber was strewn all over the lot, said Monk, and the new crush was a mass of ruts. Fresh seeded lawn was torn up and had to be reseeded.

"I will be submitting a claim for damages to Minden council," Monk wrote to Collier. "It is most unfortunate that someone who tries to co-operate receives such shoddy treatment in return. If the above actions were the result of the Harley thugs I could understand it, you certainly expect better behavior from the so called family types and 'professionals'."

Monk told Minden council that, to add insult to injury, someone "assumed my addition was a washroom and had a bowel movement in it."

He said that in previous years he has scheduled his funerals around the Ride for Sight activities and this year he moved two, but in the future he plans to schedule his business at the regular time regardless of the Ride. He referred to some of the riders as "uncontrollable animals."

When Monk expressed his desire for financial reimbursement for the damages, Reeve Ray Moore told him the Ride for Sight committee pays for damages done by the riders out of the money donated to the event. Monk said it is "disgusting" that people are donating to a charity that pays for "jackasses to come into town and raise hell."

He said the event is going to "help destroy the community" and advised council to "weigh very carefully before these people come back again."

Councillor Mike Maher

said he had voted against the Ride for Sight being held in Minden but had served on the organizing committee and said he was very impressed by the time and effort spent on planning the event. "Mr. Collier went to great effort to try and help us," said Maher, "and even with that amount of work we still had problems. I don't know what more we can do."

Dad lets me do what I want, mostly

Once again the Minden BIA judges had their backs to the wall as they tried to sort their way through a mountain of entries received in the Father's Day Contest. Similar to the contest held in conjunction with Mother's Day earlier this year, youngsters in the community were asked to describe in fifty words or less, what made their dad so special.

"The contest drew a large number of entries and once again the youngsters spoke from the heart," Wayne Henderson, one of the judges, commented. "Every entry was a gem. The fathers have every right to be proud of what their children think of them," Henderson concluded.

The entry chosen as tops in this contest was submitted by Jordan Barclay. He and his dad will enjoy a dinner at the Schnitzel House. Second prize went to Megan Sisson who will receive a $30 gift certificate redeemable at any store in the Minden BIA. Third prize winner was Matthew Hynard. He and his father will share a family size pizza from the Rockcliffe Snack Bar.

Here's what the winners had to say about their dads:

First prize

My Dad can not be replaced. I'll tell you why. He let's me do what I want mostly. Dad takes me to soccer games.

I like it when he picks me up at school. He plays catch with me. He reads me stories. He takes me to baseball games.

My Dad is a good harp player. I like it. The best of all, he loves me.

Jon Orpana studies paper industry in Finland

Four Lakehead University students are in Finland on a work exchange program in the area of pulp and paper. The students were sponsored in part by Abitibi Price Provincial Paper Mill, which paid the airfare to Finland.

George Wild, President of Abitibi Price, said, "These exchanges benefit not only the students, but the participating companies as well." While not promising jobs after graduation, Wild commented that the four students may have a slight advantage when they hit the job market.

Sean Cairns, 21 and Greg Coulter, 20, both of Thunder Bay, along with Jon Orpana, 22 of Minden, Ont., and Albert Gauthier, 25, of Schreiber, were chosen to take part in the IAESTE program. The students, who started work in Finland on June 1, will complete their work term August 31.

The International Association for the Exchange of Students for Technical Experience (IAESTE) works to give students technical experience abroad related to their studies and foster international goodwill and increase awareness between countries. Exchanges are available in engineering, all fields of science and applied arts and technologies, such as architecture, forestry and agriculture.

Jon Orpana, a forestry student, will be working with Yhtyneet Paperitehtaat OY in Simpele, Finland.

Albert Gauthier, an electrical engineering student will work with Yhtyneet Paperitehtaat OY (United Paper Mill) in Valkeakoski, Finland. Sean Cairns, studying chemical engineering, will be placed at Joutseno-Pulp, Co. in Joutseno, Finland. Greg Coulter, also studying chemical engineering, will work at Enso-Gutzeit Kaukopaa Mill in Imatra, Finland.

Air Canada sale part of pledge

by Bill Scott, M.P.

In the recent Speech from the Throne, the Progressive Conservative government repeated its pledge to sell Crown corporations that would be best placed in private hands.

One of those corporations is Air Canada; and John McDermid, Minister of Privatization and Regulatory Affairs, has announced that the government will proceed with a further share offering of its remaining Air Canada Stock.

Last year, Parliament passed the Air Canada

Public Participation Act allowing for the full public sale of the company.

The first public share offering was made up of 30.8 million shares, or 43 percent of Air Canada. The sale was completed on October 13, 1988, and attracted the attention of some 130,000 buyers. About 80 percent of Air Canada employees bought shares.

At that time the government said no more shares would be sold until April 1989, but stressed its desire to sell the remaining shares when market conditions and Air

Canada's internal circumstances allowed.

That time has come, and again Canadians have a chance to participate in an Air Canada share offering.

The sale remains subject to the rules of the Air Canada Public Participation Act. For example, no shareholder or group of associated shareholders may own more than 10 percent of the voting shares, and the airline must remain at least 75 percent Canadian owned. This and other restrictions on ownership and voting will apply even after all government-held shares are returned to the private sector.

To keep pace in the 1990's, Air Canada will need to make major new investments. It must be able to make its own financing and operating decisions, and be able to react swiftly to changing market conditions; in short, it must be able to fly on its own.

Returning Air Canada to the private sector will achieve that goal.

CONCERNED ABOUT THE ENVIRONMENT?

At Rusty's Auto Service we do care, that's why we've installed the latest in freon recycling equipment. Freon, the gas used in automobile air conditioning units, has been identified as one of the components damaging the protective ozone layer which surrounds the earth. Rather than releasing freon into the atmosphere when servicing or repairing your air conditioning unit, the new equipment allows us to hold the freon and recycle it, providing protection for our environment.

This freon recycling service is not just for our customers. We invite other garages in the area to use the service free of charge and join us in helping to protect our environment.

Six-week skating session held at Haliburton arena

Test Results

The Highland Skating School, sanctioned by CFSA jointly to the Haliburton and Minden Skating Club held a six week spring session at the Haliburton arena. The Minden and Haliburton skaters were joined this time by 13 skaters from Bancroft along with their coach Dori Underhill which was great as everyone got to meet new people. Other coaches participating were Mary Donovan from Haliburton, Jane Symons from Minden, Hilary Simpson and Michael Sanderson from Uxbridge and David Hollows from Port Carling. We are fortunate to have coaches available or willing to travel here as it saves our skaters having to travel outside the area to other skating schools. Thirty skaters took part which is an increase of 10 over last fall. This coming fall session promises to be even more popular as the word spreads.

The following skaters passed tests listed below.

1st Figure - Dawn Hebert
Preliminary Freeskate - Melissa Forgrave, Dawn Hebert

Sr. Bronze Freeskate - Sara Henderson

Dances: Ten-Fox - Kristi Barkwell, Marita Schrader, Jennifer Turner

Help dreams come true

The Victoria - Haliburton Summer Camp Fund has launched its fifth season of helping make dreams come true for area youngsters.

Target for the 1989 fund-raising drive is $20,000, which will allow up to 100 children to attend one of several area summer camps for a week.

The Victoria-Haliburton Summer Camp Fund is designed to help youngsters from age 7 to 13 who would have no other means of attending camp and experiencing the benefits of such activity. The fund works closely with social service agencies throughout the two counties. Representatives of such groups form the selection committee.

To date, more than $7,000 has been received in donations from individuals and groups. Included is a $2,000 donation from the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge in Lindsay, and $600 from the Rotary Club of Minden.

Any donation, regardless of the size, is appreciated. Donations are tax deductible and can be made at any chartered bank or trust company in Victoria or Haliburton County.

For further information about the Victoria-Haliburton Summer Camp Fund, contact Austin Kirley, chairman, at (705) 324-6205.

SSFC is expecting up to 1,500 students

Now entering its 22nd year of operation, Sir Sandford Fleming College's Haliburton School of Fine Arts will welcome approximately 1500 students this summer.

Ontario's largest summer School of Fine Arts is located in the heart of cottage country in the village of Haliburton. More than 150 short courses are offered between July 3 and August 4.

The College offers a diverse range of fine arts and crafts courses to appeal to any age and skill level, including a children's daycamp program. Children from 5 to 12 years of age explore such areas as soapstone carving, photography, drawing and music.

Pottery, fashion, painting, jewelry making, glassblowing, decoy carving, knife making, weaving, miniature cabinet making and calligraphy are among the many offerings from which students may choose.

Classes in board sailing, from basic techniques to sophisticated manoeuvres, will be held on Head Lake in the village during July and August.

The school's instructors include many of Canada's most talented working artists and craftpersons, a number of whom return yearly with fresh ideas and perspectives.

"The artists enjoy the retreat atmosphere and the opportunity to meet other artists," said Barb Bolin, Principal of the Haliburton Campus.

For the third year, internationally renowned wood sculptor Christopher Rees is returning to teach wood carving at the College. Rees' award-winning works include bronze busts of Lee Iococca and Karen Kain.

Wildlife painter David Risk, wood sculptor Joe Dampf, printmaker George Raab and basketry expert Ankaret Dean are among several well known artists teaching at Haliburton this summer.

Lois Etherington, whose work has been chosen for the new Museum of civilization in Ottawa, will teach basic, intermediate and advanced silversmithing. Dressform making will be taught by Angela di Bello, who hosts a sewing show on TV Ontario.

Although most courses run one week, there are also special weekend workshops. Dzintars Mezulis, acclaimed internationally for his sculptures, will lead a workshop on hand-building clay sculpture. The rustic art of willow furniture building is offered through July, with John Philips as the leader.

"It's a great opportunity to combine studies with a natural setting for a holiday," said Bolin. "The rolling hills, numerous lakes, abundant wildlife and peaceful atmosphere provide everyone with inspiration," she continued.

The College has an extensive list of accomodations in the area, ranging from bed and breakfast campgrounds, cottages and resorts.

"The school is a combination of both formal and informal settings," said Bolin. "Class sizes are limited and we emphasize personal and individual attention in a relaxed atmosphere," she continued.

The majority of the courses are held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and the Norman A. Sisco Centre, the College's year round location in Haliburton. Some classes are offered in alternate nearby locations. Registration for the summer courses is currently underway. To avoid limiting your choices and unnecessary disappointment...Register Now!

Hawley is first recipient

Minden event in particular.

Hawley was selected by the Board of ISDRA to be the first recipient of the award. It was presented to her by Val Loughheed, Race Governor of the Minden Sled Dog Derby, at the ISDRA Awards Dinner held on Saturday, April 29th, in San Bernardino, California. Musherers from throughout North America were gathered there for the association's annual spring meeting and world championship medal award.

"Donna Hawley was an excellent choice for the first Martin Award of Merit," Loughheed said on her return to Minden. "She has single-handedly done an incredible amount of work over the past several years to keep the sport of sled-dog racing alive and unified."

In addition to the award given to Hawley, the Minden Sled Dog Derby Committee also made a similar award to Don Martin and his family in appreciation for their continuing support of the Minden race.

The California meeting was attended by Val and Steve Loughheed as active mushers as well as founders of the Minden Sled Dog Derby. They were joined by Stuart Brandon, who is the regional representative on the ISDRA Board, and his wife Linda. The three-day event included information seminars on all aspects of sled-dog racing, a trade show demonstrating related products, and the association's board meeting.

"It was very exciting for all of us," said Loughheed. "Both Martin's and Minden got a standing ovation when the award was announced. On the personal side, it was also interesting to expand our horizons and to meet people from all over the continent who are part of the network of sled-dog racers."

"Talking with them, we realized the respect and enthusiasm people have for the Minden race. It's an important race because mushers can win maximum points here; so they can't afford not to come. Our goal is to build a stonger circuit of sanctioned races in Ontario. If we do that, we'll attract even more mushers to Minden and those who come will stay in this area longer. And the longer they stay, the more money they will spend. But we desperately need more accomodation for them here.

"I also came away from the meeting with the strong feeling that we need to increase the media's understanding of the speed-racing aspect of the sport. Long-distance races like the Iditarod in Alaska are well established and increasingly well understood. Now we have to get the same recognition for speed races like Minden."

Loughheed said that plans for the 1990 edition of the Minden Sled Dog Derby are already under way. It will be held next January 13th and 14th. Martin Feed Mills is again providing a purse of $20,000 for the sixth running of the race. They have also added $2,000 day money and increased support for administrative and promotional costs to $8,000.

Next year's race will feature several new attractions for spectators, including ski-joring behind dog teams, a demonstration of Scandinavian kick-sledding, and a winter art exhibit featuring the work of local artists and artisans. "Catch The Drift", a new song written and recorded by Bart Hilhorst and a group of local musicians, will be the theme song for the entire weekend.

Charter presented on June 17

Hello, and welcome to the first edition of the Minden Legion's Ladies Auxiliary (L.A.) column. Hopefully, here you will find all the news that is the news from the Ladies Auxiliary, Branch 636.

June 17th was our Charter. A pot-luck dinner and dance was held to celebrate the official presentation of the L.A. Charter by Zone Commander, Marg MacLean. Along with L.A. member (and guests, new and previous) executive members attended this evening. A hand made cushion donated by Ethel Baker was won by Terri Campbell.

Those who made goodies for our last bake sale, thank you very much for contributing to its' great success. Dates for future bake sales include this Saturday, July 1st - starting at noon, and August 5th during the Legion's yard sale. If you would like to donate any of your bake specialties to our sales, please contact Laurey-Anne Roodenburg at 286-3940, or drop them off before noon on previous mentioned dates for pricing. Monies raised from bake sales are going towards the cost of purchasing our L.A. colour flag.

Other fund raising events towards the purchase of the flag include - 1. Tickets on a hand-crafted clock donated by Hugh Lester. These tickets are one dollar each and can be purchased from any L.A. member or from the Legion. 2. There is also a flag board set-up just inside the legion front doors; a dollar gets you a square with lots of great prizes to be won.

The Legions annual yard sale will be held on August 5th. The L.A. will have several tables set up including a touch and take table, boys and girls grab bags, bake table and much more. Anyone wishing to donate any items (no clothes please) and either require a pick-up of such or a drop-off point, please call Laurey-Anne Roodenburg at 286-3940 or Gloria Lemieux at 286-1139.

Don't forget our summer kitchen hours:
MONDAY to THURSDAY 12 noon - 2 p.m.
FRIDAY to SATURDAY 12 noon - 7 p.m.

Any interested ladies in our community wishing to join the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 636 or having any questions, please feel free to contact Gloria-Lemieux.

Painting is dedicated to WWII veterans

June has been a very busy month for our Branch. Many volunteers both from the Branch, and the Branch ladies Auxiliary did a thorough job of cleaning inside our building. A few minor improvements have been made, with more planned for the future. Ron Murdoch presented an original painting, dedicated to the Veterans of World War II. As well Rick Lowes donated a print. Both of these gifts grace the walls of our lounge. The ladies Auxiliary have now officially received their Charter and they have taken over the operation of the kitchen, extending the hours until 7:00 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday.

A good Branch turnout was in effect at Sunderland Branch's 60th anniversary, Lindsay's D-Day celebrations, as well as District and Provincial Conventions. Minden Branch sponsored a very impressive Decoration Day - Decoration of graves at Minden Cemetery on June 18th.

Sports Officer, Comrade Ken Wallace, reports the following good news. At the Zone Golf Tournament in Beaverton on June 17th, our team won 3rd prize. Congratulations to all - Clint and his partner for the Gold in horseshoes, Bill Kleinschmidt and his partner tied for third in the Senior's Euchre.

Comrade Ken says anyone missed can complain straight on to him, with sincere apologies!

Upcoming events include the Ladies Auxiliary Bake Sale on July 1st - our monthly dance on July 15th, and Giant Yard Sale on August 5th. (Donations for the yard sale are being gratefully accepted, but no clothing thanks.)

At home after stays in the hospital are Comrade Lionel Whyte and Comrade Horace Baker.

Our President, Comrade Sally Bonner's Monthly Message: To the many volunteers who have given of their time and many donations, may I say thank you. Without your co-operation and support, we would not be able to contribute back into the community in which we live. To those members we don't see often, please drop in and say hello.

Forests' value is more than just the wood, OFAH says

The Canadian public has sent a strong message to the government and the forest industry in recent Environics Research polls says Canada's largest sportsmen's organization, the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters.

The message is that forests have value to Canadians far beyond producing wood.

"The Environics Research poll done for the Federal Department of Forestry shows that Canadians believe the most important use of our forests is wildlife protection. That's exactly what the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters is fighting for at the Class Environment Assessment into Timber Management now underway in Thunder Bay," says Dr. Terry Quinney, a wildlife biologist with the Federation. "The number of board feet per acre can no longer be the overriding consideration in forestry management. Clearly, Canadians want to see our forests managed to protect and enhance wildlife."

The poll, done earlier this year, surveyed 2,529 Canadians and is accurate to + or - 1.9 percent in 19 out of 20 cases.

Other findings:

More than 60 percent of Canadians surveyed said potential environmental impacts should be the most important consideration in deciding how specific forest areas are used. Only 12 percent felt the potential economic value of the forest should be most important.

Most Canadians believe the forest industry causes either a great deal (39 percent) or some (45 percent) damage to the environmental quality of Canada's forests.

Close to one in two (46 per cent) of Canadians strongly disapprove of clear cutting as the primary method of logging in Canada, while another 25 per cent somewhat disapproves.

Most Canadians believe that how fast and successfully the forest can grow back (89 percent) and the effects on wildlife (85 percent) are very important considerations in choosing the best logging method.

A large majority of Canadians either strongly (53 percent) or somewhat (32 percent) favours the use of selection cutting instead of clear cutting even when told that selection cutting is more expensive because of greater labour and lower volumes.

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters is the largest provincial conservation organization in Ontario, with 73,000 member. In addition, to its work to protect and enhance fish and wildlife habitat, it is known for its programs to educate young people, preserve wetlands, stop poaching, and enhance recreational opportunities for sportsmen.

The O.F.A.H. has been a participant at the Class Environmental Assessment of Timber Management on Crown land since it began in May 1988.

Barbecue tickets sell fast in spite of foul weather

It seems as though the weather has got mixed up and doesn't know what to do.

Saturday, June 10th was a big day in Minden. Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home took advantage of the big day by having volunteers at special places in town to sell tickets on a complete barbeque and accessories. Hyland Crest wishes to sincerely thank the ladies who, in spite of the cold and wet day sold tickets and made it a very successful endeavor. Thank you Mary Guilman, Helen Donaldson, Ellen Holden, Irene Moore, and Lorraine King. The project is to raise funds to buy a very badly needed bus.

Crest auxiliary came Thursday to provide us with delicious tea. They are a very busy group with many other meetings and doing so much for us. Thank you all very much. Mark Schell also served us ice cream. Thank you Mark.

In the evening Warren Payne and his family called bingo for us which we really enjoyed and thank you. This is the final night the Kinsmen will call for us until next fall.

Friday afternoon the Scottish Dancers came to entertain us in the auditorium. Needless to say we enjoyed their dancing very much and thank them sincerely.

Mrs. Mary Smith has gone out for a week. She is our latest resident. Have a good time.

Rev. John Burgess took the service in the chapel Sunday night.

Saturday Molly McCarthy and Muriel Proctor gave our bus fund a boost by selling in Minden. A follow up of the Saturday before. We thank you ladies very much for helping our bus fund in this way.

We had movies Monday night in the auditorium. Mrs. Ruth Rice has volunteered to run the projector to show the films. The films

"Coronet at Night," "Mountain Park" and "Snow Birds."

Rev. Moll of the United Church has the service Tuesday morning in the chapel.

After the service, Linda and Doris took the Residents who could go, for a picnic to Furnace Falls, just above Kinmount. This picnic had been planned for the last week, but between the bad weather, and a bus that needed repairs, we were prevented from going till now. The weather did not cooperate very well to-day, but we went anyway. The kitchen staff packed us a very nice lunch which we enjoyed sitting in the bus beside the falls. To help Linda take care of us were Beth, Doris, Dorothy and Gay were volunteers. We thank them and surely appreciate their help.

Monday Verna Jarvis had her daughters to see her, Marion Le Vinter of Woodbridge, and Muriel York of Sunderland. Verna was so happy to see them.

Isabel Gardner has been in the hospital for a couple of weeks. She is one of our more recent Residents and hope she will soon improve.

Harold and Wendy Kirkpatrick were here to see Gladys Kirkpatrick. Harold is her eldest son.

Dora Dawson had Mrs. McCann and Mr. McArthur from Toronto to visit her Wednesday.

Wednesday evening Pastor Murray held a service in the main lounge.

Garter snakes emerge from hiding

by Mike Singleton
Federation of Ontario
Naturalists

In the warm spring sun, a rock crevice comes to life. Up pop finger size periscopes which rotate silently to survey the terrain. Then, like something from The Raiders of the Lost Ark, out stream dozens of garter snakes, a lane of living skipping ropes, winding crazily through the undergrowth. The leader stops and the rest of the parade slithers into a writhing ball.

As the weather warms in the spring, garter snakes, the most common and widely distributed of Ontario's 17 snake species, emerge from their winter hibernation. In hibernacula below the frostline, as many as a hundred snakes may spend the winter, coiled tightly together. When they emerge, emaciated after their long fast, they are driven by two compulsions—to mate and to eat. Consider the difficulties of finding a mate, when you are mute, less than an inch off the ground, and have to work your way through the jungle of the underbrush. The female, generally larger than the male, releases scents which are laid on the ground from a vent that separates the tail from the body. Males locate the females by tongue. The snakes flicking tongue is a specialized smelling organ.

Acting like a piece of forked fly-paper, the tongue flicks out to capture odour. The snake then presses the tongue into the Jacobsen's organ, a unique hollow on the roof of the snake's mouth, lined with specialized cells similar to those in the human nose. In this way the snake can identify and trace unbelievably faint odours.

The female's scent usually attracts many willing males and the ensuing mating begins to look like an orgy. Once breeding is completed, the snakes disperse over a wide area. The garter snake, unlike most snakes, has no need to look for a safe egg laying site, because the pencil sized young are born alive in mid-summer. The young will be on their own from the moment of birth, and will begin to eat omnivorously to prepare for that long hibernation.

Garter snakes are versatile predators, eating almost anything they can catch and swallow—worms, grasshoppers and other large insects, frogs, baby mice and even carion.

They will go without food for weeks, gorging themselves whenever an opportunity arises.

Because it can adapt to whatever food supply is available, the garter snake occurs in every sort of habitat—meadows, forests, marshes and even in a wild corner of the garden. But snakes are not everyone's idea of a garden pet. In fact, people often react with fear and loathing to the sudden flicking of a snake.

The garter snake deserves better. Handsome in its yellow and black stripes, it is a useful pest control in the garden. Although it will strike if cornered, inflicting a bite like a pinprick, it is harmless and unaggressive.

People also think that snakes are slimy. In reality, they are nothing of the kind. Their bodies are smooth and cool and supple, a thing of marvelous beauty. Only beware. If you pick up a garter snake you will need to scrub well afterwards.

Its only defense is to release a foul smelling musk. If you discover a garter snake on your property, let it be and count yourself lucky to have such a healthy ecosystem in your own backyard.

Trent-Severn Waterway Report

The average level of the lakes in the Haliburton areas remained at 99 percent of usual maximum for the week up to June 5. A small decline of these lakes was occurring afterward until reversed by the heavy rain the night of June 8-9. At 99 percent the levels averaged 3 percent higher than in 1988 for that date and about 5.5 percent higher than the 10-year average.

Kawartha Lakes levels held near the proper early summer normals through the week to June 9. The Otonabee River flowing from these lakes toward Trenton averaged about 60 cubic meters per second, or a little more than the normal June flow of 51 cubic meters per second.

* * *

The lakes north east of Peterborough received a heavy rainfall the night of June 9-10, 1989 which gave their levels a boost. Surplus water was discharged beginning on the 10th from Trent-Severn lakes in the Burnt, Mississauga, Eels and Jack watersheds. By today (June 16) many stoplogs have been replaced again with the affected levels now more manageable in the mid-90 percent range.

On Monday, June 12, the levels had averaged 99.9 percent on the reserve lakes which was about 7 percent above the 10 year average and 8 percent higher than in 1988.

Kawartha levels which were in surplus condition too for much of the week are now down near the proper level

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express a sincere thank you to friends, relatives and neighbours, U.C.W. and those who filled in at the Tuck Shop while I was in Minden Hospital for their lovely cards, visits and phone calls. Also a special thanks to nurses and staff and to Dr. Dawson.

Wanda Carter

We wish to express our thanks to Linda English, adjutant of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home, for her participation in our pen-pal project. Our thanks, also to George Simons for suggesting that we undertake a project of this nature, and to Linda for the idea of pairing our students with residents to write pen-pal letters. We have enjoyed our letters very much, and our visit to Hyland Crest for the barbeque and an opportunity to meet our pen-pals in person was greatly appreciated! Thanks to Mark Schell and his staff for the delicious lunch. Once again, Linda, thank you.

Mrs. Berry and the students of 5A
Archie Stouffer E.S.

There is a home not made by hands
Beyond its golden door
Awaits the one who's now away
Not lost, just gone before.
And in that home not made by hands
The Master will prepare
A place for us and when he calls
We'll meet our loved ones there.

Tip For The Week

Many believe the nectarine to be a cross between a peach and a plum. Not true, say our resident fruit experts. They are a unique, flavourful fruit that originally grew wild in Asia. Take advantage of this IGA special and, when you get them home, place them in a loosely closed paper bag for several days to complete ripening. Do not refrigerate - as this interrupts the ripening process.
